ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is a concentric color identification system allowing an individual to see his/her uniqueness in relation to others. The system is based on astrological signs with a color code and on the specific birth information of an individual.